daughter of the devoted woman who signed his bond of freedom.

Mrs. Harry Kont of 3110 South Ninth street made this announcement to the Post-Dispatch Thursday morning. The bride-to-be is her daughter, Belle.

No date has yet been set and none will be set immediately for two reasons. One is that Mr. Taylor is very ill. The other is that there is still a charge of impersonating a federal officer against him in the United States District Court, of which he hopes to be cleared before the nuptilals.

The story of Taylor's entanglement with the federal officials possesses several unusual features, not the least of which is the surprising devotion of his prospective mother-in-law.

She it was who secured his release on bond—a result which she succeeded in accomplishing only after inducing United States District Attorney Rozier and the other officials in the federal building to depart from their conventional rules in dealing with such cases, Taylor is an Englishman about 37 years of age. During the streetear strike in St. Louis last summer, he entered the service of the St. Louis Transit Co. as an inspector. Ile boarded at the time in the West End.

Another minister who took an interest in him was the Rev. Dr. W. W. Boyd. This did not come about through cricket, however, but through the fact that Taylor became a regular attendant at the services at the Second Baptist Church.

There it was that Taylor met Miss Belle Kent and her mother. They were mcmbers of the congregation. Taylor and Miss Kent soon became fast friends. Mrs. Kent approved of their comradship and so did her husband, Harry Kent, who is himself an Englishman. "There we were, almost in the middle eighteen months old.

The Kents

Decided to Help Him.

The kent family decided to do all in their power to help him.

After he was surrendered to the federal authorities and placed in jail, they immediately set about doing what they could for his relief.

Mrs. Kent called on District Attorney Rosier and asked what was necessary to secure dond. He told her that a bond or si000, secured by real estate, would be accepted.

She sorrowfully said that her husband owned no real estate. Mr. Rozier said that he hardly thought he could do anything unless she could furnish the proper security.

But Mrs. Kent did not despair. She planned schemes to get a bondsman. Then the planted her post the part secure done ill. He gradually grew thinner and weaker.

She even declared that she would take the prisoner to her modest litle home and care for him until he became strong again, if he would consent to accept her on his bend.

Her plea carried the day. Mr. Rozier walked into Commissioner Gray's office and told him to make out a bond for Taylor in the sum of $1000, with Mrs. Kent as surety.

President Francis to accept an advisory connection.

During the conference Mr. Buchanan stated that there will be no difficulty in getting the World's Fair buildings ready by May 1, 1993, but he urged upon the committees the necessity of proceeding immediately and upon an elaborate scale, to interest the nations of the world. He thought the principal difficulty in building the exposition would be encountered in the apathy of other countries.

Those who attended the conference were President Francis, Charles H. Huttig, Corwin H. Spencer, John Scullin, William H. Thompson, Nathan Frank, Brekenridge Jones and Cyrus P. Walbridge.

During his visit to St. Louis Mr. Buchanan conferred with the heads of nearly all the committees and offered them appreciative advice.

ONE OF THEM FRIGHTENED INTO TELLING FRANCIS WHERE-ABOUTS.

• He Led the Pursuers to a Coal Bank but the Hunted Man Was Not There, Though He Cannot Escape.

From a Post-Dispatch Staff Correspondent, WARRENSBURG, Mo., Aug. 29.—The hunt for Will Francis, the negro who out-raged and killed Miss Mary Henderson, is on in earnest today. Two bloodhounds arfrom Manhattan, Kan., this morning on in earnest today. Two bloodhounds arrived from Manhattan, Kan., this morning and were at once put on the trail. There is no doubt that Deputy Sheriff Temple and his posse are close on the track of the fugitive. The posse is made up of determined men.

Wednesday afternoon tracks were seen leading into an abandoned coal mine near the house of a colored man named Hardin about six miles southwest of Columbus. They led from Francis' trail. Pete Lanners, a miner of the region, went in and examined the tracks, but pronounced them old. He was decided in his opinions.

Later his actions became suspicious and it was thought he knew more than he would admit. The men became indignant at Lanners and he was arrested and brought to Warrensburg and lodged in jail. Last night excitement ran high among the pursuers. A negro near Centerview, who rode by the Hyatt home on the afternoon of the murder, was arrested and taken to the old mine on a charge of knowing of the whereabouts of Francis, but was later released.

Two negroes, Joe Briscoe and Emmett Davenport, who were with the hunting party, were thought to know where the murderer was hid. A rope was placed about Briscoe's neck, but he would say nothing. The rope was then placed about the neck of Davenport. He became terrorstricken and cried:

"This is awful, men. I don't know nothing." 96

e crowd pulled him off of the ground. t me go and I'll tell. Where is he," liled. When let down he said: e's in a coal bank over here and I'll you."

show you." Shouted the men.
"No, I'm not," responded Davenport.
He was released and guided the men to the coal bank several miles away. Two banks were searched without avail. The sum of 314 was found on Davenport and it is supposed he intended the money for Francis.

The coroner's inquest was held over the dead woman's body yesterday afternoon. A verdict was rendered to the effect that Francis committed the deed. The funeral of Miss Henderson was held this morning at the Hyatt home, conducted by Rev. Sterling of Warrensburg.

FARMERS PREPARE TO SOW IM-MENSE ACREAGE.

MAY USE RUSSIAN SEED.

The Indications Are That More Land Will Be Sown Than Ever in State's History. ABILENE, Kan., Aug. 29.-The central

Kansas farmers are in the midst of preparations for sowing the largest wheat acreage in the history of the wheat belt. The new Russian seed wheat has been distributed this week, about 500 bushels to each county, its high price, $2.30 per bushel, prohibiting general purchase. However, the need of new seed is generally realized and many farms are experimenting with imported grain to find better varieties for this climate than the old seed.

There has been practically no change of seed for 20 years, the original Russian seed being inbred from year to year. The largest yield in this county this season, 41 bushels per acre, on 30 acres, was from imported seed shipped from Canada. Adjoining fields, as well tilled, produced only 25 to 30 bushels.

imported seed snipped from Canada. Adjoining fields, as well tilled, produced only 25 to 30 bushels.

The chief demand in new wheat for this part of the state is that it shall have strong straw. Last spring's wind and rain beat down the bottom land wheat so badly that' with the usual harvest weather thousands of acres would never have been cut. The drouth gave the farmers a chance to save it and practically none was lost. With stronger straw the grain would have remained erect and harvest would have been simplified.

The corn fields are being denuded of stalks, corn binders being used in bottom fields and wheat binders in uplands to put the stalks in bundles for feed. Scarcely any will be wasted. Fields not worth cutting are sold to cattlemen for $3 to $7 an acre for winter pasture. One firm here has sold two carloads of corn binders this week, and the traveling salesman for another make had orders for 150 more than his factory could deliver to this territory. Never has there been so great a demand for these machines.

Nearly all the corn fields will be sown to wheat, as well as the old wheat fields. The farmers are anxious for an early and damp fall in order that there may be made pasture for the stock as it comes from grass. Wheat will be closely pastured. Threshing has been pushed and is more nearly completed than ever before at this date. The grain is very uniform. The mills and elevators make but one grade, No. 2. No other kind of wheat has come to market this year.

Much wheat will be put in without plowing. The corn fields are remarkably free from weeds and wheat can be drilled in the rows after the stalks are cut. Early sowing will be the rule, for fields are in condition to begin at any time. The plowed fields are in fine shape and the new crop will go in with better prospects than in many seasons.

DISREGARD OF PUBLIC INTERESTS.

It is evident that the street car fender bill is not considere by a majority of the House of Delegates from the standpoint of the public safety, but the standpoint of personal and political interest and the interest of the St. Louis Transit Co.

nbine wants to force President Phillips into con plience with its demands for patronage and at the same time serve the street railways and the personal interest of combin members. The safety of the people from death or injury by worthless fenders is neglected.
In this matter, which concerns the lives of the people, the

But that necessity which is another name for natural law or real fate must be accepted without complaining if we would maintain our self-respect. To rebel against it is to fritter away our strength and become as whimpering children.

Speaker Cronin of the House of Delegates says that the only thing the House can do is to pass a garbage reduction bill providing for a three-year contract. This is a wise conclusion. The three-year contract is in the interest of the city. Speaker Cronin should use his power and influence to hasten

A LESSON IN DIPLOMACY.

When Prince Chun, envoy of the Son of Heaven, is received by Emperor William of Germany he will be required to bow three times; his secretary and other subordinates must prostrate themselves before his medieval majesty and knock their heads nine times on the floor.

This is to signify that the Son of Heaven is not what he is cracked up to be in his own dominions, and that Billy Hondom smiles-that is, those parts in which to smile the Emperor's pranks is not lese majeste. The children of the Son of Heaven will kick-and think.

hat is William's object, probably. He doesn't care for their but he wants them to think. He wants them to think hat the seat of It has been moved from Pekin to Berlin.

William is no fool. He knows that a wise man sometime proves his wisdom by acting like a fool. So he will look on while the first secretary bumps his head nine times, and when that functionary rises to his feet, will recommend kelfritz's extract for blisters, burns and bruises, "made in Germany." When the Son of Heaven hears of it he will hint and ordain preferential duties favorable to goods made in Germany.

Thus William kills several birds with nine heads knocked on the floor. He will gratify his love for elaborate ceremony convince the Son of Heaven that his glory is departed to Berand insure a large increase in Germany's Chinese trade. William's statesmanship is profound and far-seeing. In pol-

Again, Lady Jeune pays her "butler £100 a year, a footman 245 and others in proportion,"—say, for 12 servants an average of 250 a year, making a total of 2600—$3000.

Now if madame could find a piace to stow all these persons she sure that her husband can pay $3000 a year? Maybe is salary is only that much, and if it all goes for servants hat will mother and the babies do for candy and carfare, to ay nothing of her husband's highballs? The difficulty begreater when it is suddenly remembered—depressing hat many men in this country do not receive a $3000

> In demanding the arrest of St. Louis Transit Co. officials charged with being accessories to the death of Mrs. Lacey as well as Motorman Mitchell, who was held as principal, the Post-Dispatch sought only justice and the impartial enforce ment of the laws. The Post-Dispatch wanted the responsibility for the slaughter of human beings in the streets of St. Louis fixed where it belongs, and the question of the rate of speed at which cars are run and to which the deaths of two persons have been charged by coroner's juries settled in court, By issuing warrants for the arrest of both Motorman Mitchel and Superintendent Grant, Prosecuting Attorney Johnson ha taken the proper steps to settle the question of responsibility in court. In the absence of proper fenders and the regulation of street car traffic courts and juries can do much to protect the public by holding those responsible for the running of the cars to strict accountability for the consequences of recklessness and neglect of precautions against accident. The Post-Dispatch demands the protection of the public from unnecessary danger and the impartial prosecution of all offenders re gardless of position or influence. The just enforcement of law is the safeguard of the community.

IMPORTANT TO LABOR UNIONS.

In the light of a recently uncovered section of the federal statutes, court decisions upholding blacklisting of discharged employes seem inexplicable.

The law passed in 1898 is found in section 10, chapter 370 of the revised federal statutes.

Briefly it provides that no corporation engaged in interstate commerce shall discharge an employe because he is a member of a labor union, nor shall employes be discharged for refusing to contribute to benefit organizations instituted by the corporation. Generally all discrimination again, union employes is prohibited. The right to organize unions is taken for granted in the act. And not less interesting is the prohibition of blacklisting. Employing corporations are forbidden to conspire to prevent any discharged employe finding employment and must not use any means to injure him. This is interesting and important to labor unions. It seem to have escaped the notice even of the courts, but it could hardly have been willfully concealed,

Railroad employes and others engaged in interstate commerce seem to be well protected. Whether it will be of any practical value to those employed in other industries is doubt-

Gov. Jefferson Davis of Arkansas is cutting out work for other governors. He suddenly appears in person at the state insane asylum and finds that instead of the best breakfast bacon and beefsteak, which the state has been paying for, the patients have been getting bulk pork and hash. The governor's enemies accuse him of making grandstand plays, but his administration will be judged by results.

The Chinese envoys who are to apologize for the murder of Baron Ketteler will knock their heads nine times on the floor when they appear before the German Emperor. This is doubtless better than losing them, but so absurd a ceremony ought not to be permitted in any civilized court.

It will be the duty, and doubtless the pleasure, of every American consul to circulate information regarding the World's Fair of 1903. It is altogether likely that the foreign attendance at the Fair can be made very much larger than that of any of its predecessors.

The family of the average American lives on a scale and a dally diet which would be regarded in Europe as lavish, such a one as can be afforded there culy by the rich. His table is spread with abundance, not only with articles of domestic production, but of imported food staffs. For example, his family consumes annually 1250 pounds of wheat flour, and 600 pounds of oat and corn meal, 750 pounds of meat, or about two pounds of pounds of potatoes, 100 pounds of butter and 300 pounds of sugar. He is the greatest coffee drinker on earth, one pound a week being required for his family's consumption. Of tea, however, he uses little, five pounds per year sufficing for his needs. His table costs him $16 per month. He eats three meals per day, taking his dinner at noon. He retires between 9 and 10 at night, and rises at 6 in the morning.—Everybody's Magazine.

Responsibility for Reckless Speed.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Am glad to see that you are going for the transit company about the useless fenders and about the unlawful rate of speed they are running their cars. You have at last stirred up the assistant prosecuting attorney. If he will only stick to it he may save a few lives. The prosecuting attorney seems to be unable to decide whether or not the company is running its cars faster than the law allows. Now this is very easy, and I respectfully suggest the following plan: In the city surveyor's office he can find the exact distance of any street car line in St. Louis. Get that and then get a timetable and he can soen figure the rate of speed. He is so unable to decide which one of the officers is responsible for the timetable. The general manager, president and board of directors, are each and all responsible. The table is submitted to the general manager and approved by him and the hoard of directors, hence they are responsible.

A simple coincidence, of course. But there she was reading those very words as I took my seat beside her.

She recognized me at once and, extending her hand, said:

"You must have thought me ungrateful when you helped me at the Twenty-third street station. I scarcely thanked you. The pain in my ankle"— (I liked the plain, unhesitating way in which she said the word ankle)—"the pain in my ankle was excruciating and I thought of nothing else."

"Yes, of nothing else," I mused as I looked straight into her deep gray eyes. Then she handed me her card, on which was engraved:

she recognized me at once and, extending had yearned and longed the last three months.

I could have kicked myself.
I went to my office in Park Row perfectly unift for business.

My stenographer (I have a male stenographer, for, being of a susceptible nature. I have never been able to associate myself with a female clerk) my stenographer remarked that I was clearly out of sorts sand suggested a week's change.

A week's change in the month of January was impossible. Where could I go? Nowhere except Lakewood.

However, I tried Lakewood for over Sunday and returned to work. But still in a state of abstraction.

Night and day the pained ankle, the pretty little hand, the face with its look of agony, the soft melodious voice of the "homeless" girl haunted me!

Good heavens! I was in love.

I had often been in love before.

A young fellow in New York cannot reach the hirtieth milestone without several incidents of love.

But I never felt like this.
In love with a "homeless" girl.
It has been said that the philosophy of the heart is a science, and I felt that I was just beginning to study the elementary science of love.

Morning after morning I came down to my business on the elevated train, but without the inspiring presence of the firl I loved.

Did she take the surface cars? Not being able to mount the stairs of the elevated station?

She assented, and she had scarcely said the words when she reached the inevitable station at Twenty-third street.

AT THEATERS AND GARDENS

There will be a benefit for Lawrence Hanley at Koerner's Friday night. Mr. Hanley has been playing at the garden all summer, and he has been doing it with a return to his old self and an employment of his talents that gratifies his friends and admirers without measure. This has been one of the most successful seasons Mr. Hanley has had. He has worked hard and successfully, and his audiences have enjoyed him thoroughly. There is every reason to believe his benefit will result in an expression of the pleasure of the garden's patrons and the gratification of his friends.

"Boccaccio," Franz von Suppe's best comic opera, which, with just a trifle less levity in its action would be true grand opera, is being fairly well interpreted by the Delmar Opera Company this week. Manager Southwell's forces realize that they are up against a very adequate proposition and are doing the best they can with the eminent German tone poet's prime endeavor. Maude Lillian Berri stands almost alone in her complete realization of the famous Fforentine subject of the opera, and her Boccaccio, despite the limitations of mid-year presentation, is fully as good, in some respects better, than her Castle Square essay at Music Hall last year. Next week the Delmarians will sing about the whale who had his cetacean habitat in the' North Sea. Also about bobbing upsernely from below after taking a header. In other words Maitre Audran's other chef d'oeuvre, "Olivette," is the bill. "Olivette" will be followed by "Tar and Tarter," which probably closes the sea-son.

another western play, beginning with the matinee of the coming Sunday, but of an entirely different type. "At Cripple Creek" is the title.

With the matinee of Sunday Manager Garen will open the Imperial for the season, and promises his friends a surprise in the unfolding of the beauties of the new decorations and the perfect operation of the cooling apparatus with which he has supplied the house. The attraction will be "In a Woman's Power."

Excellent business ruled at Mannion Park this week and the entertainment offered appears to give general satisfaction. Flatt and Sutherland, in their musical compedy sketch, and Colville and O'Brien are the hits of the bill. Next week Dick and Alice McAvoy, in a comedy specialty, and the Donovan Comedy Company, in "Mixed Pickles," are featured.

Next Sunday night at the Olympic will not only signalize the first performance here of the Thomas Q. Seabrooke Company in "A Modern Crusoe," but also that come-dian's first appearance in legitimate com-edy for many years.

"The Burgomaster." to open the Century the week of Sept. 15, was produced at the Dearborn Theater, Chicago, June 17, 1990, and since that time it has been presented n every city in the Union.

At the Standard Theater the Topsey Turvey burlesquers have made such a pronounced hit that the management has prevalled upon them to cancel other time and play here two consecutive weeks.

Maurice Freeman has no reason to complain of the attendance at Uhrig's Cave to witness.

"Chums," the New York Herald prize play, is being presented at the Columbia this week by George W. Leslie and company. Mr. Leslie finds excellent support in Lester Wallack, Jr., a grandson of the famous actor. Louise Willis and Eleanore Leslie. The other sketch on the bill is "Two Girls and One Man." presented by Lizzie Evans and Harry Mills. It is worth seeing more than once.

Quite a number of the actors and actresses stop at the Highlands clubhouse, and during the week they combine with the management to form a happy family. Mr. Steuver and Col. Hopkins practically live at the Highlands through the summer. They have a suite in the clubhouse. The pleasures of the Highlands family are early morning tours in the saddle, hunting trips into the county and game dinners at the clubhouse, taily-ho parties with Mr. Steuver, and many another little affair of merrymaking.

Messrs. Hopkins and Steuver, George Herron, and sometimes General Superintendent Charles Schwindt, are participants in these. Mr. Steuver is a jolly host, and many clever people are his guests. "The Cirl With the Auburn Hair," her sister, Lottie, Eugene Cowles, Marie Dressler, Henrietta Duke and many others have en-she will have a brand-new act. What she contemplates at present is an imitation of Sarah Bernhardt in a scene from "I.'Aignon." It will all be in French, for Miss Sabel speaks the language like a native. Another star attraction at the Suburban is pretty Louise Gunning, who sings the Scotch songs.

Coming to the Suburban next week: Filson and Erroll, in a "Tip on the Derby;" the Osnatos, aerialists; "Honey Boy" George Evans; Katherine Bloodgood, the contraito; the Romalo brothers, athletes, and other good people.

witness the presentation there by his stock company of the comedy drama, "Dixis Land." The honors are fairly carried off by Nadine Winston, who, in the soubrette role of "Florida Bascomb," a character somewhat of the "M'liss" type, is easily the center of attraction while she is on the stage.

"Chums," the New York Herald prize play, is being presented at the Columbia this week by George W. Leslie and company. Mr. Leslie finds excellent support in Lester Wallack, Jr., a grandson of the famous actor. Louise Wills and Eleanore Leslie. The other sketch on the bill is "Two Girls and One Man." presented by Lizzie Evans and Harry Mills. It is worth seeing more than once.

few hundred jokes of more or less antiquity. Dorothy Morton has three brandnew songs, all of which are well received. Coming to the Columbia next week: Marie Wainwright and company in a Napoleon sketch, the Savans, Robinson-Baker trio, Ed Latell, Andy Lewis and company, Gallando, Joe and Nellie Doner. George W. Moore, Manley and Rose, Charles Burkhart, Frank and Ida Williams and the Sassarias.

"A Parisian Romance" is drawing well at Koerner's, with Lawrence Hanley in the role of "The Baron," with which his admirers here are familiar. Lillian Kemble is an imposing ballet girl and sparkling as hampagne in the part of Rosa. One of the leatures of the performance is the singing of gems from Rigoletto by Will S. Rising in the role of the Italian vocal teacher.

Josephine Sabel, who is a feature of the show at the Suburban this week, says that the next time she comes back to St. Louis she will have a brand-new act. What she

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.-Two thousand New York members being particuarly well represented.

All claim kinship with John Schmidt, the Hollander, who came to this country more than 150 years ago, and who founded the family of the Peapack Smiths.

A business meeting was held yesterday and the following officers elected: President, Islah Smith of Millburn: vice-president, Abraham Smith of Peapack; secretary, James Smith of Peapack, and Treasurer, John Dayton Smith of Peapack.

There is a branch of the family in Seneca County, N. Y., which has a membership of 400. They hold a picnic every year, and it is said if the New Jersey reunions are abandoned, as is thought probable, the Seneca County branch will continue.

A Sensational Purchase of

Dress Goods and Silks

Here's the tale, shortly told: A large eastern retailer had placed his season's order for silks and dress goods with the manufacturer's agent, but failed just previous to shipment of the goods. The agent offered them to us, and, although our own orders were already placed, we were unable to resist the tremendous and enticing reductions held out to us, and bought the entire lot. Here they are tomorrow! Superb silks and handsome dress goods of the very newest shades and

MYSTERY SURROUNDS

John R. Coleman's Friends Did Not

Wednesday morning

elicited little information some mystery seemed to attach to the affair.

Mr. Coleman of 2010 Thomas street said to the Post-Dispatch Thursday morning that Agnes Ruith, his wife, died Sunday and was buried Wednesday afternoon. For personal reasons the interment was private.

Mr. Coleman says that he was married if months ago, but because of a probable family objection to his marriage he kept the matter secret. When his young wife died his intimate friends were made acquainted with the facts of his marriage and the death of his wife.

Mr. Coleman prepared to bury the remains of his wife without ostentation. Superintendant Dana of the Charter Oak Stove and Range Co., where Coleman is employed granted him a three-days' leave of absence.

Thursday Mr. Coleman said to the Post-Dispatch.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

The worm turned Wednesday Disgruntled at the recent defeats adminis-tered them on their home grounds by the Pittsburgs, the Cardinals turned the tables on the Pirates Wednesday and on the latter's own grounds captured the last series between the teams for the season by win-ning a hard-fought, uphill game, 9 to 7. The Cardinals have been wanting in up-

Ordinarily they start out at thoroughbred speed and finish at a standstill. Wednesday they reversed the case and in the face of a lead of six runs kept at the William Sudhoff pitched for the visitors. He pitched poorly, too, and deserved defeat, always excepting the amateurish work of the Pittsburg players on the defensive.

Corn. off coast, nothing doing; on passage, quiet and hardly any demand. From Cincinnait Price Current: Corn progressing favorably, showing moderate improvement. The unusual condition of the crop causes much variages in reported estimates. Freer interior offerings of corn. Moderate movement of winter wheat increased acreage sown to winter wheat likely. A special dispatch to a Chicago paper from Kansas estimates reserves of old corn west of the Mississippi river at less than 160,000,000 bu. To P. J. McMorrow from Chicago: Statistician Snow is expected to issue his September report to morrow. The point is that he will make his corn condition 50, or a fraction over compared with 64.4 announced by him in August. The popular expectation is that the Washington authorities on Sept. 10 will advance their corn condition some from August. The corn buils. Patten, Bartlett-Frazier, Comstock and others, bought liberally yesterday, presumably on the knowledge of what the Snow ignress would show. They obtained no outside help, however, in their buying and the corn price closed-lower than it opened. MADRID, Aug. 23.—While the British fleet in Spanish waters was maneuvering today a torpedo which had been launched stranded on the shore in front of La Linea. A party of man-of-warsmen was sent to recover it, but were prevented from doing so by a detachment of Spanish carabiners. The landing party was strongly reinforced from the fleet, overawed the carabiniers and took the torpedo.

they will announce their day at home.

A fashionable wedding in suburban society next week will be that of Miss Helen-Blanche Kauffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Kauffman, to Dr. Ray Woodman Bryan of Louisville, Ky. The ceremony will take place at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening, Sept. 3, in the drawing room of the handsome Kauffman residence in Webster Groves, and afterward there will be a reception and supper.

Miss Amia Bell will serve as maid of honor. Miss Kate Kauffman as bridemaid, and Mr. King Kauffman as best man.

Rev. J. M. Northrup will be the officiating clergyman.

Another wedding, just announced, is that of Miss Emma Aber, eldest daughter of Mr. C. I. Aber, formerly of St. Louis, and Mr. Daniel Francis, which took place Saturday morning. Aug. 24, at the Aber country residence in Bunker Hill. III.

The ceremony was very simple, with no guests except members of the two families. The bride, who is a very attractive young woman, was married in a bandsome tailor gown of navy blue cloth, with a chic little toque to match.

After the ceremony a dainty redding breakfast was served.

Mr. Francis and his bride are now enjoying a tour of the great lakes. They will reside in Jacksonville, III.
